

body image * food * eating disorders * radical identities * fat phobia

THE BARF ZINE

VISITS THE URBANA-CHAMPAIGN INDEPENDENT MEDIA CENTER

SAT. APRIL 26TH @ 2PM
202 S. BROADWAY AVE. URBANA

Gus Allis is a writer, performer, and storyteller based in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Specializing in brutal, blunt prose, she enjoys changing minds and opening hearts through emotional oversharing, TMI-filled monologues, and mythological metaphors. When she was 5 years old, she cut off all the eyelashes on one of her eyes because she wanted to see if it would make half her face look like a boy. It didn't.

Kate Pleuss grew up with cats and chickens in WI and now lives in an itchy bitsy commune in Columbus OH. She works on DIY projects that have a point and get to it. Kate works with prisoners in OH enjoys writing short stories every once in a while. She has acted in, co-produced and directed plays with Insurgent Theatre from 2008 to 2013.