

Anti-War Poetry Reading in commemoration of Veterans' Day

2:30 PM, Saturday, November 10th
U-C Independent Media Center
202 S. Broadway, Urbana

Grandpa Wahlfeldt Family Room - downstairs
Enter by the stairs leading down from Elm St side.

We are delighted to have as our featured guest Tim Bagwell, long-time activist with Vietnam Veterans Against the War in Bloomington, Indiana, conscientious objector, and a well-known poet who has read his work throughout the Midwest. Read his poems at:

<http://bagwellantiwarpoet.wordpress.com>

Tim will be joined by others, including local artist Aaron Ammons, author of two poetry anthologies and convener of the local Speak Cafe, a monthly event celebrating Black Power with hip-hop, song, poetry and other spoken word art forms.

Please come out, enjoy the poetry and re-commit to ending war.

Light snacks will be served.

Sponsored by Iraq Veterans Against the War (IVAW) and Anti-War, Anti-Racism Effort (AWARE). For more information, contact Scott Kimball of IVAW scttkmbll@gmail.com or Stuart Levy of AWARE stuartnlevy@gmail.com

It's especially appropriate that this will be held in the Grandpa Wahlfeldt Family Room, named for the late Robert Wahlfeldt, a veteran who became a fierce and outspoken opponent of war. Thanks to the School for Designing a Society for inviting us to this space, and to James Kilgore for bringing Tim Bagwell to C-U!
